

LC50 across pH and salinity conditions

3 comparisons with simultaneous changes in pH and salinity

Labels show the salinity reported at each pH level.
Salinity changed with pH in all three comparisons, so an independent pH effect could not be isolated. The pCO₂ experiment reported by Wei et al. (2021) was considered separately because verified exposure–water pH values were unavailable.